FOR EVERY PROFESSIONAL BOOKMAN

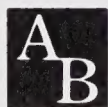

BOOKMAN'S WEEKLY

READ AB and keep in touch with what's going on in the specialist book field throughout the world. Discover the many services of AB, its unique departments, trade news and reviews, book notes and bibliographical information and a special feature article each week on some aspect of the world of books.

BOOKSELLERS have found that AB's complete coverage of 8,000 professional bookmen (9-10,000 for special issues) brings them greatest returns on ads, at lowest possible cost. Sales tips and new promotion ideas are valued by the specialist and antiquarian book trade.

LIBRARIANS as well as collectors, editors, research workers in the literary field — all professional bookmen — look to AB for important news and reviews of out-of-the-way books and events, nowhere else available.

PUBLISHERS of better books, scholarly and specialist works and items for collectors, can take advantage of this concentrated audience of professional book buyers at low display rates.

BOOKMAN'S YEARBOOK

AB ANNUAL for all bookmen — dealers, publishers, librarians and collectors. Two volumes published each year, loaded with valuable reference features on a variety of book world subjects, the indispensable O.P. Market, Reference Directory of Specialist and Antiquarian Booksellers, separate Directory of Trade Services, and listings of specialist book publishers, university presses, private presses, dealer-publishers, and auction houses.

THE BIBLIOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY OF AMERICA

The Society was founded in 1904. Membership is open to all who share its aims and interests in the promotion of bibliographical research and publication.

Membership is available at a cost of $20.00 per year, which includes a subscription to the quarterly Papers of the Society, as well as substantial discounts for the Society's monographic publications.

The BSA sponsors an annual short-term (one or two months) fellowship program, in support of bibliographical inquiry as well as research in the history of the book trades and publishing history. Details of the program are available from the Executive Secretary.

The Papers of the Bibliographical Society of America (PBSA) publishes contributions dealing with books and manuscripts, in any field, which treat them as artifacts of historical evidence, as well as studies of the printing, publishing, and allied trades.

For further information, address the BSA Executive Secretary, P. O. Box 397, Grand Central Station, New York, N. Y. 10163, U. S. A.

THE BOOK COLLECTOR

For thirty years now, THE BOOK COLLECTOR has come to be regarded as the most authoritative, interesting and lively journal devoted to the interests of collectors, bibliographers, antiquarian booksellers and custodians of rare books.

THE BOOK COLLECTOR counts among its contributors the leading experts on both sides of the Atlantic on all aspects of bibliophily, from medieval manuscripts to modern first editions. It is copiously illustrated.

THE BOOK COLLECTOR, like all specialist journals, depends for its main support on its subscribers and wishes to add to their number.

THE BOOK COLLECTOR is published quarterly in March, June, September, December

Greetings,

The SPECIALITY of the house is old, rare, and/or significant children's books. To explain "significant": a writer or illustrator who has influenced the development of children's literature. Great illustrators are irresistible! Wanted to buy and/or sell.

For my book collector's registry please tell me the AUTHOR, ILLUSTRATOR, EDITION, and PUBLISHER you want. Is the dust jacket necessary?

It's not easy to find first class children's books whereas ex libras are available. Since postage is tyrannical please be specific.

In my compulsive quest for children's books I have bought MANY first editions in other categories: photography, Christmas, etc. Your WANT LISTS and CATEGORIES are very, very welcome!

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Volume 89 of American Book Prices Current has been prepared by a team of editors highly experienced in the field of rare books and manuscripts. As its users know, ABPC is not just a transcribed record of titles and prices, copied unquestioningly from the season's auction catalogues. It is, on the contrary, the only work in English in which every listing of printed material has been checked as to title, format, date of publication, edition, and limitations. Bindings are described, with condition when relevant, and whenever possible maps and plates in books are verified. Moreover, sales of autographs and manuscripts are reported. Because of this, ABPC is an essential tool for buying, selling and evaluating books, serials, autographs, manuscripts, broadsides, and maps, based on actual figures realized at auction. In the words of a reviewer in The Times Literary Supplement, it is "an accurate, indispensable tool for the antiquarian bookseller and collector." And, in addition to meeting the need for a dependable guide in determining the value of old and out-of-print books, ABPC serves as a reference work and as an aid to scholars in locating printed works and manuscripts of all centuries, from the earliest years to the present.

American Book Prices Current is composed of two parts. Part I, Autographs & Manuscripts, includes original illustrations for printed books, documents, letters, typescripts, corrected proofs, signed photographs, and signatures, as well as manuscripts. Part II, Books, includes broadsides, single-sheet printings, maps and charts, and uncorrected proof copies of books.

Entries are listed alphabetically by author whenever possible, by title when the author's name is unknown, or by Private Press and Club, printer, or publisher headings if such are the associations which attract the collector. In general, illustrated books are listed under the author of the text. Subject headings such as England, Maps & Charts, Hebrew Books and Miniature Books or those for individual U.S. states or cities have also been used. Individual works are in turn listed alphabetically under each heading and include: title; place & date of publication; edition designation; number of volumes, when more than one; size, binding, and condition of binding; descriptive material, limitation notes, and the sale record — auction house (in code), date or number of sale, lot number, price, and purchaser (buyers' names are given when and as listed in price lists). There are cross-references to Club or Press books, to books bound together, and to books by more than one author.

Volume 89 lists only those books and manuscripts which sold for at least $50 or its equivalent in another currency. In keeping with previous editorial policy, auction lots consisting of groupings of miscellaneous volumes are not listed, for the prices realized by such lots can give no accurate indication of the value of individual items. Similarly, listings of badly broken runs or seriously incomplete sets of printed books do not appear. Listings of books in non-Western languages realizing less than $100 have been selectively excluded, as have such peripheral works as printings of musical scores, collections of plates, and panoramas.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Listings of 20th-century books frequently appear without format or binding information. In such instances it may be assumed that these books are octavo or duodecimo and bound in cloth. Items which are sold by auction houses "as a collection of plates" or which are deemed to be merely bound prints rather than books are excluded from these pages, especially when these items are sold in frames. Considerable effort has been made to secure price lists for all of the relevant sales held by the auction houses listed herein. We make great efforts to be comprehensive, but not all auction houses are equally diligent in sending us price lists, or equally responsive to our inquiries.

Currency

The highs and lows of other currencies in the 1982-83 auction season expressed in terms of the value of one American Dollar were as follows: Dutch Florin, 2.46 to 2.73; Swiss Franc, 1.80 to 2.10; South African Rand, .97 to 1.14; Australian Dollar, .86 to 1.00; and German Mark, 2.22 to 2.45. The Pound Sterling ranged from $1.45 to $1.72. Please note that these figures are meant as somewhat simplified approximations of the currency fluctuations throughout the period, designed to give our readers a good, clear idea of these fluctuations, but not an absolutely precise bank rate.

Buyers' Surcharges

The following buyers' surcharges should be noted: in England, 10% at most houses but 8% at Christie's and no surcharge at Christie's South Kensington; and in the United States, 10% except at Hanzel.

A U C T I O N H O U S E S

The sales recorded in this volume are from the auction houses listed below and are designated by code letters. On the following pages are a list of the season's sales from each house and a record of the named consignors of merchandise.

THE AUCTION SEASON

Volume 89 of American Book Prices Current contains some 255 sales, as opposed to 315 sales for the previous season. Rising costs in London and New York auction houses dictated fewer sales. In London, Sotheby's went from 67 sales in the 1981-82 season to 31 in 1982-83, partly because of the 1001-lot sales (which got even longer by the end of the season) inaugurated by that creative cost-cutter, Roy Davids. Christie's went from 20 to 15 sales, while Christie's South Kensington gave up weekly sales for bi-weekly sales. In New York, Christie's condensed to 3 sales from 7, and Sotheby's to 8 from 14. Oddly enough, Phillips held more book sales almost everywhere, cutting costs in New York, for example, by combining sessions of books or autographs with sessions of other properties in a single catalogue. Specialized houses such as Swann and California Book remained fairly constant in number of catalogued sales, while specialized houses outside of major metropolitan areas, Richard Oinonen for example, increased the number of sales they produced.

The world economy and cost-accounting practices had a direct effect on the word "more" with reference to auction houses. More books were lotted up; more lots were bought in; more value per lot and per sale was required by the central administrations of some full-service auction houses. In this context it is interesting to note a telling peculiarity in the computer system of one such auction house: on the day of a sale it can tell you the percentage of lots bought in and the aggregate value of the buy-ins, but it cannot tell you by lot number which lots were bought in. Here creeping bottom-lineism may obscure information needed to run the business being accounted for. And running the business is a difficult task at the moment, for more and more potential consignors are opting out of the market, hanging on to their collections until the muddy economic waters settle. All of these mores add up to a less, a decline in the elasticity, density, and general welfare of the book and manuscript market. In the past year we have even seen an old friend, Montreal Book Auction in its new guise as Canada Book Auction, put down the gavel and leave the game.

The tendency to choke off the middle market and sell only big-ticket items also can create opportunity for those not plagued by high overheads. In some instances, as with Leslie Hindman in Chicago, an experimental foray into books proved profitable enough for the house to decide to continue holding book sales. The most ambitious response to the big-ticket philosophy was the founding in 1983 of Bloomsbury Book Auctions in London by Lord John Kerr, Frank Herrmann, and David Stagg. The theory in operation here is that a large market for less expensive books is no longer being served by the traditional venues and that an efficient, low-overhead operation can make good money by tapping that market. Bloomsbury's headquarters reportedly are owned by one of the principals; it holds auctions at a nearby hotel; and its catalogues are not costly to produce (though these are probably the most easily read catalogues produced today. When you have to complete 175 entries every working day as we do, the layout and typography of the Bloomsbury catalogues produce joy and gratefulness). It is too soon to tell whether Bloomsbury will be a long-term success, but they have at least a six-month supply of books on hand to sell, and they seem to know what they are doing. We hope that their guess about the market is correct, for we want to see rich and varied auctions of all kinds of books, from the rare and wondrous through reading and reference to cult and silly stuff. If someday the auction market thins and thins itself out to books of $10,000 value or more, then the whole idea of the book will be warped into icon worship, and all the fun and the real value of books, reading, and learning will be gone. And so we take a strong stand for populism in the auction market. Years ago, we used to wonder why AB's Sol Malkin tended to downgrade "name" sales in favor of what he called "bread-and-butter" sales. As we've gotten older, we've come to realize that if you haven't got bread and butter, what you've probably got is "Let them eat cake." Without that bread and butter there is no way to keep a continuum, to bring along a new generation of dealers, collectors, book lovers and hoarders. And so hooray for low rents and efficiencies and for creativity at any auction house that allows a wide variety of books to be sold.

There's self-interest at work here too. ABPC is a price guide which is geared to the standards of the Internal Revenue Service as concerns auction value and fair-market value (the price at which a property would change hands between a willing buyer and a willing seller, neither being under any compulsion to buy or sell and both having reasonable knowledge of the relevant facts). For obvious reasons, ranging from ambiguity of description to knowledge that a lot was sold after a public auction, we do not include everything sold in a given season. And, to be useful, it is necessary for us to report on as wide a variety of books and manuscripts as possible. The majority of our readers are most interested in books selling in the $50 to $500 range and in how a given book sells both in the cities and in the provinces. While cataloguing and checking at breakneck speed to keep to our deadlines, we try to keep a very close eye on these lower-priced books, for they are our bread and butter as well.

The 1982-83 season was also interesting, if disheartening, in terms of communications. Postal services have become real enemies of the auction houses, with catalogues mailed in plenty of time often arriving in the nick of time or later. In one instance a price list was requested and mailed to us four times before a copy reached us. To be certain of reaching their patrons, auction houses increasingly have turned to expeditors to get their catalogues delivered on time, but, here again, the cost goes up. Until an effective alternative to telephone communication is found, such futuristic measures as putting catalogue texts online won't help much either. We have just redone completely our ways of working by computer to get offline as much as possible because we found that working over telephone lines was good for searching but tended to be difficult and error-introducing for other sorts of work. Perhaps some sort of TV-screen teletext will provide an answer to the communications problems facing auction houses, but we'd settle for the reintroduction of the postal services of the 1950s.

THE AUCTION SEASON

With all the difficulties, the 1982-83 season was not a bad season by a long chalk. Natural history, plate books, printed Americana, detective and science fiction were among the categories giving a strong showing. One interesting phenomenon which became obvious this season is the work done by George Snyder of Sotheby's in New York in the field of Judaica. American auction house cataloguing in this area traditionally has been of the hold-your-breath-and-muddle-through or of the hire-an-outsider-and-pray variety. Mr. Snyder, a hardworking and witty Methodist, has changed all that and has created a Judaica specialty at Sotheby's in New York. Another exceptionally fine example of this season's cataloguing came from Hamburg, where Gabriele Braun and Ernst Nolte of Hauswedell & Nolte made an admirable and handsome presentation of the fine Alfred Bergmann collection of books printed by the Insel-Verlag. And, as always, we rejoiced in the work of Christopher de Hamel, marveling at the Burckhardt-Wildt Apocalypse leaves (and breaking long-standing rules to include single leaves and miniatures from the Sotheby sale of April 25th), learning more than we had ever known about Anne Boleyn, whose psalter (the only surviving manuscript certainly made for her) sold in the Sotheby sale of December 7th for £140,000.

There is much in ABPC Volume 89 that will be of interest to lovers of books and manuscripts, but the most important sale of the 1982-83 season will not be reported in these pages, for it was not an auction sale at all, but rather the placement of the Irene and Peter Ludwig collection of medieval manuscripts at the J. Paul Getty Museum. With the combined wisdom and experience of nearly 160 years between them, Hans P. Kraus and Jacob Zeitlin persuaded the Getty to part with a rumored $30 to $40 million in order to acquire this superb collection formed over a 30-year period with resources derived primarily from control of the chocolate market in many parts of the world. As New York Times critic John Russell put it, the Ludwig collection "will give both a new dimension and a new point of reference for the Getty collections, in which there has hitherto been a large gap between classical antiquities and the beginnings of Western European painting." The 144 illuminated manuscripts in the collection date from the 7th to the 16th centuries and include such magnificent works as the Helmarshausen Gospel Book (1120-40), the Dyson Perrins Apocalypse (St. Albans, 1250), the prayer book of Cardinal Albrecht of Brandenburg (Bruges, 1525-30), and the Llangattock Book of Hours (Bruges, 1450-60). The superb catalogue of this collection, begun at the Schnuetgen Museum in Cologne, will be translated and completed by the Getty over the next decade. Thus the 1982-83 book and manuscript season is uniquely remarkable as the year in which the Old Men showed us all how it's done, and made the scholarly world the richer for their actions.
